

Galveston Mardi Gras Half Marathon – Feb 20, 2011

I ran the half in Galveston—2:25, first and only, in age group. It was a VERY good event, and I would highly recommend it!

I'm here in Houston and ran the Galveston Mardi Gras Half. Kamiar's report is excellent and very accurate; he was not kidding about the dense fog! It was only about 40-50 yard of visibility at gun time. Pretty good turn out for an inaugural event. Also hoping that the running community will support it. Galveston is still recovering and rebuilding from the damages of Hurricane Ike. The city could use such event.

Running the Houston Rodeo 10K this Saturday.
